Jewel Foods plans August start

by GLORIA DAVIS

The plans for Jewel Food Stores to construct a new Jewel Supermarket and Osco Drug complex at the intersection of Rtes. 59 and 173 "are progressing quickly," said Timothy Schwartz, Jewel's real estate director.

"We have to get a few business questions resolved, straighten out some kinks in the surveying and talk to the village about the utilities and easements. Then we will be able to appear before the village to ask approval of our plans," he added.

"We should be able to start the demolition of the buildings presently on the planned construction site by August," Schwartz said.

Schwartz added that Jewel would shortly start negotiations with the owners of Swans Liquors and Kentucky Fried Chicken, the only two of the seven businesses now located on that corner that have long-term leases.

Kentucky Fried Chicken's lease runs through March 31, 1984, with an option to 1989 and the liquor store's lease is in effect until December of 1983, with a three-year option.

Representatives of Jewel have previously stated that if these businesses choose to stay out their leases, it would be possible to build around them since they are located in the parking area.

The other five businesses, who claim that they first found out that they were to be ousted from their present locations when they read about it in the newspapers, say that they have received their first direct communique from the food chain calling for a meeting on Monday, June 21.

Ray Lorenz, owner of Smiley's Corner Tavern, located in the same spot on Rte. 173 for over 25 years, said that, if he is advised that his building is coming down, he will relocate in the area.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Sanders, who have owned the Sunshine Laundry on Rte. 59 for 20 years, they won't really know about their future until after Monday's meeting.

Mr. Notre Dame dies at reunion

One of Antioch's patriarch residents, Irv Carey, died at the age of 79, on Saturday, June 19, at St. Joseph's Medical Center, South Bend, Ind.

His friends have said that Carey died the way he would have wanted to, at his favorite place, with his favorite people.

He was stricken with an apparent heart attack while playing golf at his 58th class reunion at Notre Dame University. He graduated from there in 1924.

Carey was not only a 50-year member of the Notre Dame Club, but he was also the founder of the Lake County Notre Dame Club and presently one of its directors.

Carey had been the owner and operator of I. W. Carey Electric Co. in Antioch since 1935, and many of Antioch's present businessmen got their training under his guiding hand.

He was a member of the National Electrical Contractors' Assn., and had been in charge of electrical work at the Lake County Fair for many years.

Besides being Antioch's VIP in 1981, Carey was one of the most active residents of Antioch. He was a member of St. Peter's Church.

Toft, 6 others want Griesheimer to run

by ROGER RUTHHART
Managing Editor

Antioch Mayor Ray Toft and six other Lake County mayors have urged former State Rep. Ron Griesheimer, Wadsworth, to run as an independent.

The seven mayors made their wishes public in a joint press release.

Toft said the fact that Republican candidate Bob Churchill and his law firm represented Waste Management in its application to the village, was the main factor behind his urging Griesheimer to oppose Churchill. Bob Giesiakowski of Antioch is the Democratic candidate.

"I don't think he has to represent us when his law firm was the one behind it (landfill)," said Toft. The Antioch mayor noted that two conservatives, Jim Olson of Antioch and Griesheimer, actually drew stronger support from the district than did Churchill.

"Ron (Griesheimer) did a good job for us when he was down there (Springfield)," said Toft, although Griesheimer's district never included Antioch, but did include portions of Lake County. "The problems that caused him to lose had nothing to do with how he represented us," Toft added.

Other mayors joining Toft in calling for the independent challenge from Griesheimer were Rodney Brenner of Round Lake Beach, Gil Schlosser of Wadsworth, Bill Cody of Round Lake Heights, Art Fosslund of Winthrop Harbor, Dick Welton of Gurnee, and John Spencer of Zion.

Griesheimer said that he was "sitting back in a cloud of amazement," following contact by Spencer asking him to consider the third party campaign.

Griesheimer said he had been urged by people to run as an independent after his March Republican primary loss to Churchill.

"but never anything organized."

Griesheimer said he had also been approached by high ranking Democrats to be that party's candidate in November.

Calling a third party challenge "a monumental commitment," Griesheimer said he planned to talk to the State Board of Elections Monday. "It may be impossible," he noted.

"I do know that there is no way I can run as an independent. I would have to run as a third party candidate," said Griesheimer.

Churchill, meanwhile, called the action by Toft and the other mayors "a trial balloon," linked directly to politics in Zion.

"They're trying to see if the public would support an independent run by Griesheimer," said Churchill, adding that he was "concerned about any opponent" who might oppose him in November.

"The two things he's (Griesheimer) had against me are that I'm a liberal, which I'm not, and that I backed an independent candidate (presidential candidate John Anderson). I think it would be pretty hypocritical for him to run as an independent," said Churchill.

The Republican nominee added he didn't believe Griesheimer would have a chance as an independent candidate because "he'd have a small base of people (backing him) and nothing else."

ties with a population of over 300,000.

Although he filed his resignation from the board, under pressure from Lake County States Atty. Fred Foreman, Holtz contends that since the law only affects three counties in the entire state, it is discriminatory and unconstitutional and directly aimed at certain assessors.

Avon Township Republicans are upset at the snub of Geary, the number two vote-getter in the Republican primary in March.

"You have demonstrated poor judgement by ignoring the people's choice of a successor to the recently resigned district four representative Bud Holtz," said Charles Oplawski, chairman of the Avon Township Republican Committee, in a letter to Miller.

"Our county board members from Antioch, Lake Villa and Grant claim to represent Avon Township. If they had Avon's interest at heart, they would have pushed for Norm Geary, who came in second in the March primary, to be appointed to the county board," said Oplawski.

Another controversial appointment was that of Ingleside, attorney Arthur Newell to the Lake County Board of Health. Newell replaces Dr. Anne Barlow, an internationally known public health expert and Abbott Laboratories executive.

Other incumbent health board officials Helen Amendola of Highland Park and Isabelle Buckner of Wadsworth were reappointed.

Barlow was dropped however because of a tradition of having a representative on the health board from district four, something county board members from that area pushed in supporting Newell. Barlow is a former resident of Duck Lake and still owns a home there, but moved to Lake Forest over a year ago.

Barlow is president of the board of health and has been nominated for re-election.

Despite the appointment June 14 of Newell, speculation continues that the size of the health board could be increased from eight to 12 members in order to accommodate Dr. Barlow, who no one apparently wants to see removed from the health board.

All four girls won their matches at Spring Valley Country Club to score six points for the day and lead the league with a total of 13 points.

Just one half point behind was Team 5: Trudy Anderson, Kay Costoff, Alvera Morgan and Chris Berles.

Special prize for the day was for gross score, minus putts. Winners were: Louise Santino, A Flight; Henrietta Albergo, B Flight; Jean Sherman, C Flight; and Chris Berles, D Flight.

Following a delicious luncheon at the club, golf balls were awarded to all the special prize winners for the first three rounds of play.

Sherwin Reizner, manager of Behning's Auto Parts on Rte. 173, said that he is negotiating to buy the business and has already been looking at two buildings in town as possible location sites.

Jack Schwandner, owner of Lakes Co., a tile and flooring concern that has been on Rte. 173 for 35 years, said, "We're still up in the air until we talk to Jewel on Monday." He added that the business would remain in town.

Don Mentone of Donald's drive-in has no definite plans yet.

Meanwhile reports are that surveyors have already mapped the construction site and plans for a new Jewel-Osco are rolling ahead.

SINUS PROBLEMS AND TEETH

QUESTION:

I have terrible pain in my upper teeth, but my dentist says that there is no cavity and no abscess, and that the problem is probably my sinuses. How can this be?

ANSWER:

Because the sinuses extend very close to the roots of the upper back teeth, sinus and dental problems in this area can be confusing. In fact, the roots of the upper molars sometimes protrude into the sinus itself.

This can make it difficult to determine just where the problem is. Usually (but not always) it is dental if the teeth are sensitive to cold. Sometimes a sinus infection will show up on a dental X-ray, and a diagnosis can be made in this way.

Occasionally, problems arising in the teeth can actually spread to the sinus. Severe infections in the upper molars may spread that way, particularly if a tooth with roots extending into the sinus has to be extracted.

A&P remains vacant, shoppers increase

The fact that Jewel is in the process of constructing a supermarket at the intersection of Rtes. 59 and 173, and a new Dominicks is planned for Tom Santino's Harbor Ridge Shopping Mall, means that there will be two new supermarkets for Antioch area grocery shoppers come next spring.

This does not alleviate the present grocery-shopping dilemma created by the Jewel fire and the closing of A&P in March.

With the large A&P building still vacant in the Antioch Shopping Plaza, many rumours are afloat. The village has said that they expect a new grocer to be in operation at that location by August, but no definite announcements as to who that might be are forthcoming.

Scot Lad, Inc., purchasers of the store from A&P, have announced that they have it up for leasing to an independent grocer who hopefully will buy their stock from them.

Late rumours have had Eagle Foods locating in Antioch but Stan Coin, president of Eagle, says, "There are absolutely no negotiations in progress for an Eagle Food Store to locate anywhere in the Antioch area."

Meanwhile it's back to the drawing boards and the addition of thousands of summer residents already complicating Antioch's constricted food shopping services.

Beyer replaces Holtz on Lake County Board

by ROGER RUTHHART
Managing Editor

Wauconda Township Supervisor Jerry Beyer, who will not even reside in county board district four after the November election, has been appointed to fill the seat made vacant by the resignation of R.G. (Bud) Holtz of Antioch.

In last minute maneuvering, Beyer was named instead of Howard (Bud) Scott of Lake Villa. The appointment came as a surprise even to Beyer, and the backlash continues to ring from those who feel that Avon Township Supervisor Norm Geary should have received the nod.

Scott won a position on the Republican ballot in district four for the November general election along with incumbents Donna Mae Litwiler of Ingleside and Jim Fields of Antioch and Avon Township Supervisor and former county board member Norm Geary in the March primary.

Since the county board chairman is obliged to appoint a replacement from Holtz' district and his party, the obvious choices were either Scott or Geary.

But with well-publicized odds between Geary and at least three incumbent county board members from the district (Litwiler, Joe Tobolik and Jim Fields), his appointment was unlikely, so Scott was expected to get the nod and even listed on the agenda.

However when approached, the likeable Dean from Grant High School, declined the appointment due to previous summer plans, leaving Miller looking for another Republican from district four to replace Bud Holtz.

Although the redistricting, which takes affect when the new county board is seated in December, will put him in district six instead of district four, Beyer drew strong support for the appointment and Monday won county board endorsement.

"My mother is coming up from Florida for the summer and my wife has taken time off work and I didn't want to tie myself down for the summer," Scott explained. "It was agonizing, but it will be my last summer to play for a while."

Scott said he doesn't believe his appointment, or his refusal of the appointment, would have any affect on what will happen in November.

Miller, however, said that Scott told him he had commitments to teach summer school which would prevent him from making many of the meetings. That, said Miller, was the reason Scott turned down the appointment.

For Beyer, it is the second time he was been appointed to the county board, being Miller's choice following the tragic death of County Board Chairman Harry Robin.

Beyer admitted that he found out at 8 a.m. Monday morning that he was going to be appointed. "It was a surprise for me, but I'm flattered. I really thought Bud Scott should have the position," Beyer said.

Beyer, who lost a bid for re-election after his previous appointment, has been off the county board since Dec., 1980.

Although there may have been a few muffled cries of Miller trying to strengthen his team by appointing Beyer, a member along with Miller of the slate that swept to a March victory (also including Pat Wilson of Mundelein and Ela Township Assessor Al Knox), those cries of politics never grew to any significance.

And Beyer, despite the fact that he will be redistricted out of district four, had strong support from that district's representatives.

He will fill the committee spots held by Holtz on law and judicial and tax and elections. "Both are committees I have not served on before so I will welcome any information I can get from them," said Beyer.

Holtz was forced to resign following passage of a state law that determined that it is illegal for a township assessor to be a member of the county board in counties with a population over 100,000. A subsequent law made it illegal only in counties (Continued on Page 5)

The Time Machine

When I think about it Is this U.S. or 'Rusha'?

by GLORIA DAVIS

Even though popular songs implore us to "Stop and Smell the Roses" and sayings like "The hurrieder I go, the behinder I get," are framed for our walls, people, Americans in particular, are always off to the races and they don't necessarily do all their speeding at Indianapolis.

Is life so bad that we're in a rush to get it over with? Tots can't wait to be teens and teens are in a hurry to reach that magical 18. Then they want to be 21 because "it's more grown-up."

Young men try to look and act older, especially in the business world, because they feel that people have more confidence in age and they'll be given better jobs.

Working people then start to rush toward their retirement, counting the days until they can do what they want to do when they want to do it.

It's not until one nears the end of life's headlong race that we slow down and hope that we're a long way from crossing the finish line.

So many things in our daily lives are geared towards speed. The most popular restaurants are not necessarily those with the best food but they are the thousands of fast food ones which are geared to customers getting and swallowing their food as quickly as possible.

If we cook at home we have to have a microwave so we can get the cooking done, not necessarily better, but much quicker.

The hundreds of instant foods that stock the grocery store shelves are just more testations to our fast living.

I have a son whose life is geared to walking in the door at all hours and marching right to the kitchen, like a well-trained robot whose batteries are in the stomach. Within seconds the hum of the microwave can be heard and most of the time he still eats half-cooked food because even this method of cooking is too slow for him.

Modern cameras give us instant pictures and prefabrication gives us instant homes. Calculators give us instant mathematic answers and when used to balance my check-book give me instant heart failure.

The new bank computers give us instant bank balance. Gone is the luxury of spending money from your paycheck before it clears the bank it has been written on.

Though it has statistically been proven that reduction of the national speed limit, lowering it to 55 miles per hour, has saved hundreds of lives, there is still a strong legislative movement to kick it back up to 75 miles per hour.

The fact that the extra speed just gets us to our destination minutes sooner seems to be worth risking not arriving there at all.

FIFTY YEARS AGO: June 23, 1932

The hand of the syndicate was seen in the finding of the bullet-ridden body of John Nyan, Crooked Lake barkeeper.

Willard Randall found a sand turtle in Sequoit Creek that had a shell bearing the names of L. Cannon, 1893; H. H. Grimm, 1910, and J. Cepek, 1915. It was believed that 'Charley', the name given the turtle, had been ambling the Antioch area for over 40 years.

The Antioch News ran an article that the world was now inhabited by two billion people.

THIRTY YEARS AGO: June 19, 1952

Homer LaPlante received the contract to build both the Antioch Rescue Squad Station and the addition to the fire station.

Antioch was one of the few Lake County villages without dial telephones and there was little concern since the Antioch Telephone System employed 34 women.

Joan Smoc received her nursing degree from Northwestern University.

The News ran an article about a new gyro-skid control, invented by a Dr. William Ross, to stop cars from skidding by dampening all horizontal vibrations and keeping equal distribution of the weight on all four wheels of the car.

Antioch's Studebaker dealer was advertising the 1952 Studebaker Commander V-8 as one of America's lowest priced cars.

TEN YEARS AGO: June 21, 1972

Talk was that an agreement would soon be signed on a sub-county sewage plan which included Antioch in its second phase.

Gary Mandehr was getting set to compete in the National Junior Championship Track meet in Denver, Colo.. Mandehr was an outstanding track star at Antioch High School.

Mayor "Missouri" Cunningham proposed the development of 42 housing units, apartments or condominiums, on a track of land near Cunningham Dr. and the sewage plant.

The Antioch Rotary Club was helping the Antioch Volunteer Fire Dept. sell tickets to the annual firemen's dance.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Condolences to the family and friends of Robert King, especially his wife Priscilla (Brett) and his two sons, one daughter and five grandchildren.

King, former owner of King's Drug Store, died on April 6, in Yucca Valley, Cal., at the age of 68.

Annie Mae's already wearing her commemorative button being sold by the Antioch Parks and Recreation, celebrating the 90th anniversary of the incorporation of the village of Antioch.

The sale of the buttons will be in conjunction with the old fashioned Fourth of July celebration.

Let's see if we can see all the citizens of Antioch sporting one! They can be purchased at the village hall, the parks department, or at any of our three financial institutions for a mere dollar.

I hear that the family reunion, held at the home of Dr. and Marge Solar, on Sunday, June 20, was a real wing-ding!

Over 75 people gathered at the Solar home, on Rte. 83, to honor "Queen Bee" Nina Bailey, Marge's mother, as she celebrated her 90th birthday.

Co-hosting the party were Samuel Wayne and Judy Bailey, another of Nina's daughters and son-in-laws.

Nina, a well-known former Antioch resident, has six daughters, one son, 26 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Start hording a little extra money for your vacation this year. The Chicago Motor Club tells me that vacations will cost 10 percent more this year.

Letter To Editor

OPPOSES ANNEXATION

Editor:

I feel that it is the responsibility of the Antioch News, Antioch Reporter and the reporter writing articles for these newspapers to investigate all of the facts and interview the people involved before publishing what could be half-truths.

The meeting held in April at the State Bank was NOT an association meeting. Therefore many association members did not attend. The vote or opinion poll taken should not have been an indication of what the members of the association felt as a group because it did not reflect the feelings of the majority of the members.

The village attorney and the mayor were asked at this meeting to give their opinions of the "percent of chance" of closing or stopping the expansion of the landfill if Silver Lake annexed.

They were unable to hazard a guess, other than "it is a chance." They stated that they would like to control the landfill. The village has had the present landfill site in their limits for eight years and has made no attempt to stop any existing problems, but they are now planning to expand it.

as Mr. Little calls them happen to be a minimum of 90 percent majority of property owners in our subdivision who disagree with Little and Doris Reimer as to why we should annex and we feel that we should not be forced to do something against our will.

Mrs. Reimer has stated that we would have no choice in the matter of annexation. I was under the impression that this was a free country and people were able to have a voice in these matters.

The fact of the matter is, the land necessary to surround the landfill does not include Silver Lake Park.

I wonder, if a referendum was put before the people of Antioch to raise their property taxes a minimum of 11 percent and other costs to fight the landfill, how many people would be in favor of this referendum?

We are all opposed to the expansion of the landfill, but where we differ is in the annexation which we feel should not be forced on us.

IN APPRECIATION

Editor:

On behalf of the students parents and staff associated with the Special Education District of Lake County (SEDOL) program for autistic students, I would like to express great appreciation to the Antioch Jaycettes for their efforts the past two years in sponsoring, organizing and supporting our program.

The SEDOL autistic program is a special education day-school program.

The past two years, the Antioch Jaycettes have conducted a one-day bowling for autistic children fund-raiser with the proceeds being donated to our program.

Their efforts have resulted in a very successful raising of funds which have been utilized in a variety of positive ways to provide services to autistic children.

Myriad of contests open in county fair

Farm families aren't the only ones to enter the Lake County Fair competition. Each year, hundreds of "city dwellers," including artists, gardeners and cooks, enter their work in the fair.

"Of course, the fair has the traditional livestock competition for beef and dairy cattle, sheep, goats and swine. But we also have entries of vegetables from home gardens, floral arrangements, fine needlework, arts and crafts and home-baked items," said Walter Krumrey, fair secretary.

For persons interested in entering this year's competition, a premium book is available. The 136-page book outlines the rules and regulations and gives specific information on categories and requirements for entries in 26 departments. It also outlines the prizes and awards; this year more than $90,000 could be awarded.

The departments include: beef cattle; dairy cattle; sheep; dairy goats; swine; junior livestock demonstration; special junior livestock show; rabbits; poultry and waterfowl; quails, pigeons and doves; agricultural products; floriculture; garden club display; domestic arts; paintings; photography; crafts; ceramics; antiques; hobby collections; culinary arts; tractor pull; horse pull; open youth horse show; open horse show and Appaloosa horse show.

To receive a copy of the premium book, write: Premium Book, Lake County Fair Association, P.O. Box 216, Grayslake, 60030, giving name, address, zip code, phone number and listing the specific areas of interest.

The Lake County Fair is scheduled July 28 to August 1 at the fairgrounds east of Grayslake.

MAIL OUT BOOKS — Marge DeYoung, Antioch, left, and Ann Peterson, Wauconda, were among the 20 volunteers who helped the Fair Assn. mail out several thousand premium books.

Make sure all have five digit address

Antioch area residents have only until July 25 to change their addresses over to Lake County's new five digit system for unincorporated areas. Areas within the village will remain the same.

The postal service is obliged to honor the two-address system only until July 25, explained Antioch

Postmaster Mary Ann DeRemer. "At this point, all non-incorporated residents should have their new five digit address number. All parties that you wish to continue receiving mail from should have been notified and verification made as to the correctness of the addressing of incoming mail," she explained.

If anyone has not received their new five digit Lake County address, they should contact the office of Grace Mary Stern, county clerk, in Waukegan at (312) 689-6630.

"Perhaps just writing in your new address may not be enough. An inexpensive way of bringing your addressee's attention to the change may be to simply use a red pencil and circle your new address and state it is a new mailing address," DeRemer noted.

"We live in a busy world. We do not take the time to read what we consider extraneous. In this bottom line society of today, we must draw attention to the important changes and whether we think so someday or not, getting our mail is important," she added.

The situation is uniform throughout Lake County. If you call the county clerk's office for your new five digit number, useful information to have on hand is your tax number and property lot number. Renters may have to contact their landlords for the information, but remember the one-year grace period is up on July 25.

Two ACHS grads get diplomas

Two graduates of Antioch High School were candidates for degrees at the spring commencement of the Milwaukee School of Engineering May 22.

Michael W. Polsgrove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland W. Polsgrove, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wayne Polsgrove, 24993 W. Ravine Drive, Lake Villa, earned the bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering.

Tracy B. Sodman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sodman, formerly residing in Antioch, earned the bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering technology.

Umps to hold tourney

The Fox Valley Officials Assn.'s third annual Class B 16-inch slow-pitch softball double-elimination tournament will be held July 9, 10 and 11 in Crystal Lake.

The top four teams will receive berths to the World Tournament to be held Sept. 17, 18 and 19 in Rockford.

The top four teams will also receive team trophies and the first and second place winners will receive expense money of $250 and $100, respectively.

Entry fee is $100 plus the USSSA $15 team registration fee.

If teams are already USSSA registered, proof of registration must be shown.

Each entry must be accompanied by an official tournament entry blank and release from each manager and player of these matters. The tournament is held at the Fox Valley Officials Assn. building in Crystal Lake.
